

GP shared maternity care

The following GP practices and other maternity providers provide shared care arrangements for maternity patients booked at St John of God Midland Public Hospital. This means if you live in the hospital's catchment area and have a low risk pregnancy, your pregnancy care can be shared between your GP and the hospital, assisting with continuity of care.

The GP will undertake antenatal appointments in the lead up to the birth and our hospital will provide an initial antenatal appointment at 20 weeks. From 36 weeks you will be cared for by the hospital. Note: at any time your care can be transferred to the hospital if the GP or maternity provider feels it is more appropriate for your pregnancy.
